2nd Arud Symposium

Harm Reduction with E-cigarettes

Chair: Regina Esser and Oliver Senn

Harm Reduction with E-cigarettes

The 2nd Arud symposium on harm reduction with e-cigarettes focuses on the potential harms of nicotine and e-cigarettes as well as on the questions of sensible market regulation of these products.

Both the consequences of tobacco addiction and the initiation of tobacco consumption by young people are highly relevant public health topics.

The currently ongoing discussions show that the concerns of youth protection and the need for a target-open therapy for tobacco addiction are not naturally compatible with each other.

The symposium is intended to contribute to the knowledge of the current scientific evidence for both concerns and, based on this, to discuss possible solutions that do justice to both concerns.

With this in mind, we cordially invite you to participate in our symposium and look forward to an exciting afternoon with lively discussions.
